JENNY'S CASE. By ELLEN F. PINSENT. 2 vols.

FIRST REVIEW (Scotsman)—"The subject is a troublesome one, but it has been treated with a becoming reticence and dignity. Touches of real portraiture."

SECOND REVIEW (Glasgow Herald).—"This is a work of remarkable power. Without passion, declamation, digression, or striving after effect, the story is allowed to unfold itself step by step in the most natural manner. Yet it is one with several strikingly dramatic incidents, as genuinely conceived and as quietly presented as if the artist were quite unconscious of her power. . . . Another great merit is the stamp of absolute truthfulness borne by the characters in the drama. . . . It is a result of close observation and sympathetic study. It is doubtful if any modern writer, save George Eliot and Thomas Hardy, has so well caught the idiosyncracies of rustic character. As for the story, which begins in comedy and ends in deepest, darkest tragedy, it is one of love, betrayal, and desperation sinking into unutterable misery."

THIRD REVIEW (Daily Chronicle).—"Jenny's case was similar to that of Tess of the D'Urberville's, and in one respect the author's treatment of it is more original than Mr. Hardy's. The story is told with extreme directness and simplicity, and with quite unaffected and unmanufactured pathos. We believe this is Mrs. Pinsent's first novel. Every one who reads it will hope that it will not be her last; but she will find it hard to beat."

WITH A PREFACE BY EDNA LYALL.

HAD I BUT KNOWN. By ELLA FORDYCE. 3s. 6d.

"Miss Fordyce tells her story well."—Athenæum.

AN UNBIASSED CHURCH HISTORY.

HISTORY OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH: A.D. 1-800. By Dr. W. MOELLER. Translated by ANDREW RUTHERFURD, B.D. 558 pp., 8vo, 15s.

"Dr. Moeller's work will be valued by all who wish to follow, in an unbiassed narrative, the development of Christianity through a period that is dark in itself, and has been made more obscure by the perversities of partisan writers."—Glasgow Herald. "To the teacher who wants references, to the priest or minister who wants to keep up his theological library, to the public librarian who wants to be able to send his inquirers to a practical and scientific authority, and to be himself directed to the choice of the best books on the subject, as well as to the student, this book may be heartily commended."—Manchester Guardian.

HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH LANDED INTEREST: Customs, Laws, Agriculture. By RUSSELL M. GARNIER, B.A. (Oxon.). 424 pp., 8vo, 10s. 6d.

"Full of careful and far-reaching erudition, and falls into line with the works of Prof. Rogers, Mr. Prothero, and Mr. Ashley."—Scotsman. "Eminently readable, packed with interesting notes, and as minutely critical as is possible in a summary of the successive land tenures of sixteen centuries, Mr. Garnier's book is an important contribution to economic history."—Glasgow Herald.

THE STORY OF KASPAR HAUSER. By ELIZABETH E. EVANS. With a Portrait. Crown 8vo, 4s. 6d.

BOOK COLLECTING: A Guide for Amateurs. By J. H. SLATER, Editor of "Book Prices Current," etc. With numerous fac-simile Marks of the Early Presses. 5s.

LONDON: WHITTAKER & CO., PATERNOSTER SQUARE.

THE TIMES says: "'Haydn's Dictionary of Dates' is the most universal Book of Reference in a moderate compass that we know of in the English language."

READY SHORTLY, in One Volume, medium 8vo, cloth, price 18s.;
Or, half-calf, 24s.; full or tree calf, 31s. 6d.

AN ENTIRELY NEW EDITION OF

HAYDN'S DICTIONARY OF DATES

And Universal Information

RELATING TO ALL AGES AND NATIONS.

TWENTIETH EDITION, Enlarged, Corrected, and Revised throughout, and Brought Down to the Autumn of 1892.

By BENJAMIN VINCENT, Hon. Librarian of the Royal Institution of Great Britain.

CONTAINING

THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD TO THE PRESENT TIME, Comprehending Remarkable Occurrences, both Ancient and Modern—The Foundations, Laws, and Government of all Nations, and particularly of the British Empire; their Progress in Civilisation, Industry, Literature, Arts, and Sciences; their Achievements in Arms; the Civil, Military, Religious, and Philanthropic Institutions, etc., etc.

The comprehensive and exhaustive nature of the Dictionary, and the completeness with which it presents every department of human knowledge, appears in the fact that this edition consists of about 1,150 PAGES (or nearly 100 pages more than the last Edition), and comprises about 11,000 Distinct Articles and 130,000 Dates and Facts.

THE THOROUGHNESS OF THE REVISION.

HAYDN'S DICTIONARY HAS BEEN THOROUGHLY BROUGHT UP TO DATE in this New Edition. Not a page, not a paragraph, has escaped the vigilant revision of the editor; and wherever new information had to be given, THE NEW INFORMATION IS INSERTED IN ITS PROPER PLACE in the book, and not published in a supplementary form as Addenda at the end of the work. In order that every new fact chronicled from day to day in the Editor's Register may be duly inserted in the page to which it belongs, the entire Dictionary is, at a considerable expense, kept standing in type from edition to edition. Thus HAYDN'S DICTIONARY appears in its Twentieth Edition, not as a work with Supplements and Appendices, but as a book of reference renovated and recast, and with all the newest information to the date of publication."

THE TIMES said of the 17th Edition of this work: "It is certainly no longer now a mere Dictionary of Dates, whatever it might have been at its first appearance, but a comprehensive Dictionary or Cyclopædia of General Information."

INTERNATIONAL HUMOUR.

EDITED BY WILL H. DIRCKS.

Each Vol. will contain from 50 to 75 Illustrations and from 350 to 500 pages.

In each of these volumes the object will be to give an anthology of the humorous literature of the particular nation dealt with. France, Germany, Italy, Russia, Spain, and Holland will each have their respective volumes; England, Ireland, and Scotland will each be represented, as will also America and Japan. "From China to Peru" the globe will be traversed in search of its jokes, in so far as they have recorded themselves in literature. The word Humour admits of many interpretations; for the purposes of this Series it has been interpreted in its broadest generic sense, to cover humour in all its phases as it has manifested itself among the various nationalities. Starting from the early periods of each literature—in Italy, for instance, from the fourteenth century, with Boccaccio, Sacchetti, and Parabosco; in France with the amusing Fabliaux of the thirteenth century; in Germany from Hans Sachs; characteristic sketches, stories, and extracts from contemporary European and other writers whose genius is especially that of humour or esprit will be given. Indicating and suggesting a view and treatment of national life from a particular standpoint, each volume will contain matter suggestive of the development of a special and important phase of national spirit and character—the humorous, namely. Proverbs and maxims, folk-wit, and folk-tales notable for their pith or humour, will have their place; the eccentricities of modern newspaper humour will not be overlooked. Each volume will be well and copiously illustrated; in many cases artists of the nationalities of the literatures represented will illustrate the volumes. To each volume will be prefixed an Introduction critically disengaging and marking the qualities and phases of the national humour dealt with; and to each will be appended Notes, biographical and explanatory.

INTERNATIONAL HUMOUR.

Cloth Elegant, Large Crown 8vo, price 3s. 6d. per vol.

THE HUMOUR OF FRANCE. Translated, with an Introduction and Notes, by Elizabeth Lee. With numerous Illustrations by Paul Frénzeny. [Ready 25th Oct.

THE HUMOUR OF GERMANY. Translated, with an Introduction and Notes, by Hans Muller-Casenov. With numerous Illustrations by C. E. Brock. [Ready early in Nov.

THE HUMOUR OF ITALY. Translated, with an Introduction and Notes, by A. Werner. With 50 Illustrations and a Frontispiece by Arturo Faldi. [Ready early in Dec.

Just issued. Authorised Version. Crown 8vo, Cloth, price 6s.

PEER GYNT: A Dramatic Poem.

By Henrik Ibsen. Translated by William & Charles Archer.

This translation, though unrhymed, preserves throughout the various rhythms of the original.

"To English readers this will not merely be a new work of the Norwegian poet, dramatist, and satirist, but it will also be a new Ibsen. . . . Here is the imaginative Ibsen, indeed the Ibsen of such a boisterous, irresistible fertility of fancy that one breathes with difficulty as one follows his headlong course. . . . 'Peer Gynt' is a fantastical satirical drama of enormous interest, and the present translation of it is a masterpiece of fluent, powerful, graceful, and literary rendering."—Daily Chronicle.

MESSRS. WARD & DOWNEY'S LIST.

GOSSIP OF THE CENTURY:

Personal and Traditional Memories—Social, Literary, Artistic.

With more than One Hundred Portraits.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "FLEMISH INTERIORS."

Two Vols., Royal 8vo, 1,050 pp. 42s.

"The book is far too readable to be found much fault with. It is better conceived and better written than nine-tenths of its class. Our author appears to have had more or less acquaintance with nearly all the literary celebrities of the past half-century; and about some of them—especially Rogers, Crabb Robinson, Harrison Ainsworth, and Bulwer Lytton—he gives interesting reminiscences."—The Athenæum.

"In these two large and beautifully-printed volumes we have a great amount of the century's best gossip. . . . . The two volumes are, in fact, a kind of encyclopædia of gossip about monarchs, statesmen, doctors, writers, actors, singers, soldiers, men of fashion."—The Daily News.

"Covering so wide a range, they (the volumes) should be of great value to the student of manners in the earlier half of the present century, the more as the old order is so rapidly changing."—The Standard.

"The copious illustrations, consisting principally of portraits of the celebrities mentioned, are full of interest."—The Times.

Angelica Kauffmann: A Biography. With a List of her Paintings and Drawings, and some Illustrative Reproductions thereof. By Francis A. Gerard. 1 Vol. 15s. Now Ready.

Roundabout Recollections. By John Augustus O'Shea, Author of "Leaves from the Life of a Special Correspondent. 2 Vols. 21s.

"A book so lively in tone as these 'Roundabout Recollections' is not vouchsafed to us every day."—Morning Post.

A NEW BOOK OF POEMS.

Fate in Arcadia, and other Poems. By Edwin J. Ellis. With numerous Illustrations by the Author. 7s. 6d.

 A large-paper edition of 100 copies only at £1 1s. each, with 10 additional Illustrations, has been printed on hand-made paper.

"He who buys it will have obtained a wise comrade and an ever fascinating friend."—The Bookman.

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

Comedy and Comedians in Politics. By the Countess Hugo. 2s. 6d.

"The niece of Victor Hugo poses as the champion of Italy and the enemy of Signor Crispi. The book she has written is really a smart résumé of contemporaneous Italian History."—Publishers' Circular.

MRS. FENWICK MILLER'S BIOGRAPHICAL ESSAYS.

In Ladies' Company. Six Interesting Women. By Mrs. Fenwick Miller. Fcap. 5s.

"Mrs. Miller has given us a volume to be grateful for."—Daily Chronicle.

Club Cameos. Portraits of the Day. Demy 8vo, 2s. 6d.

'Twixt Old Times and New. By Baron de Malortie. Demy 8vo, 3s. 6d. A New Edition.

"We may safely say that people who care for curious characters, military adventures, and the byways of history and politics, will find few dull pages in this book."—Spectator.

Picturesque London. By Percy Fitzgerald. With upwards of 100 Illustrations. 25s.

"We are delighted to get a book like 'Picturesque London,' itself a triumph of the printer's art."—St. James's Gazette.

"It is all about the curiosities of London, the quaint old houses, and the odds and ends of archæology and street lore."—Daily News.

NEW NOVELS NOW READY.

Honours Easy. By C. T. C. James, Author of "Holy Wedlock." 3 Vols.

Miss Eyon, of Eyon Court. By Mrs. Macquoid. 1 Vol. 6s.

The Incomplete Adventurer. By Tighe Hopkins, Author of "The Nugents of Carriconna." 1 Vol. 6s.

Ben Clough. By William Westall. 1 Vol. 6s.

"No modern novelist appears to be so well acquainted with the details of manufacturing and commercial life in Lancashire as Mr. William Westall."—Manchester Examiner.

In Fool's Paradise. By H. B. Finlay Knight. 1 Vol. 6s.

"Amongst the strongest of one-volume novels which have lately appeared. The faults are those common to a first work—a certain lavishness of good things not necessary to the story, and a want of connection about the whole."—Daily News.

NEW EDITIONS.

Miss Wentworth's Idea. By W. E. Norris. 3s. 6d.

A Baffling Quest. By Richard Dowling. 3s. 6d.
